Community Network Web Site

C.M.E Communication Network Web Site (http://www.cnetweb.org/cme_network.htm)

In 2000, Flashlyt.com launched "CME Sixth Episcopal District Communication Network" under the leadership of Bishop Othal H. Lakey to utilize internet technology to improve the flow of information between church leadership, local church membership and the community.

Flashlyt.com traveled across Georgia to develop websites for regional, district and local church leaders. We worked to establish email contacts for each church and provided training to members attending Christian Training Institutes on how the Internet could serve to support outreach goals, how to promote church ministries online and to encourage connectional email communications to share news and information.

We established a central web site where members could send local events and find news from across the Sixth Episcopal District. Flashlyt.com also provides technical support to district online ministries. With the support of the Sixth Episcopal District, the C.M.E Communication Network website continues to serve as a network of resource to C.M.E. members across the connection for news, event announcements, church and community listings, video clips and links to education resources.

We will list your church, ministry or community web site, mailing address, phone number, email address and contact name with title on the Cnetweb Community Network Website. We will promote ministry news and information received from your representative on the Community Network.

With each annual paid membership in the Community Network of $275.00, Flashlyt.com will work with your church Communication Ministry to develop a Forministry.com web site that meets your ministry needs. Forministry.com, a division of the American Bible Society, will provide hosting services for Christian church websites worldwide, FREE OF CHARGE. Churches must utilize template designs provided by Forministry.com. As a Member of the Cnetweb Community Network, church websites wishing to transfer hosts are not eligible to receive the free hosting and discounted maintenance services. (i.e. www.forministry.com/GACMEPCMCATL)

The Cnetweb Community Network can help you expose your organization to more online visitors and share news and events with family, friends, and people everywhere. Flashlyt.com is ready to help you build and maintain your online presence.
